

Eaton Vance Large-Cap Value

Investment Approach

The Value Team employs an Opportunistic Value approach, seeking companies trading at a discount to their intrinsic value, using a strategy offering consistent value exposure that does not sacrifice quality.

- We emphasize independent bottom-up, fundamental research.
- We seek leading companies that are mispriced, out of favor, or misunderstood by the market, and identify them by using a culture of ownership and debate within the Team. We believe leading companies exhibit:
 - Robust and sustainable business models with strong returns on capital
 - Financial discipline exemplified through a durable balance sheet
 - A strong free cash flow profile that supports compounding of value
- A strict sell discipline helps to preserve capital by remaining objective.

Performance Returns

Unless otherwise stated, composite returns and market values are reported in U.S. dollars. All performance returns are presented as total returns, which include the reinvestment of all income and distributions. Returns for periods less than one year are not annualized.

Policies for valuing investments, calculating performance, and preparing GIPS Reports are available upon request.

Composite Dispersion

Annual internal return dispersion is represented by the highest and lowest gross returns of all portfolios within a composite or pure gross returns in the case of SMA composites. Internal dispersion is shown only for composites that held at least six accounts for the full year. Internal dispersion is shown as not applicable, "N/A", for composites that held five or fewer accounts for the full year. External composite and benchmark dispersion are shown to demonstrate the variability of returns over time, and is represented by the three-year ex-post standard deviation of gross monthly returns or pure gross returns in the case of SMA composites. External dispersion is not shown for composite inception through December 2010, as it is not required for periods prior to 2011.

Other Matters

A complete list of all composites and limited distributed pooled funds (LDPF) maintained by EVM with descriptions and related performance results for each is available upon request. Composite Definition

The investment objective of this style is to seek above-average total return from equity investments made primarily in large-cap, dividend-paying value stocks, which, at the time of purchase, are common stocks of companies that are considered inexpensive or undervalued relative to the overall stock market. Large-cap companies are considered to be those having market capitalizations equal to or greater than the median capitalization of companies included in the Russell 1000® Value Index. Up to 25% of total assets may be invested in foreign securities, and up to 20% of net assets may be invested in convertible debt securities, including securities rated below investment-grade. All fully discretionary, wrap-fee paying, sub-advisory and program-sponsored advisory accounts are eligible for inclusion in the Composite. Individual accounts in the composite may contain account specific investment restrictions or features that may lead to differences in the holdings and performance of each account but are still eligible for inclusion in the composite.

An account is included in the Composite at the beginning of the first full month under management, and closed accounts are included through the last full month under management. No selective periods of performance have been used.

Risk Considerations

The value of investments held by the strategy may increase or decrease in response to economic, and financial events (whether real, expected or perceived) in the U.S. and global markets. The value of equity securities is sensitive to stock market volatility. Investments in foreign instruments or currencies can involve greater risk and volatility than U.S. investments because of adverse market, economic, political, regulatory, geopolitical, currency exchange rates or other conditions.

Benchmark

The Composite's benchmark is the Russell 1000® Value Index.

Gross and Net Returns

Composite pure Gross returns are presented as supplemental information and do not include any fees, expenses or transaction costs. All fees for accounts in this composite are available from the managed account sponsor's form ADV Part II.

Composite net returns are after the maximum managed-account fee of 3.00%. This fee may include any combination of management, transaction, custody and other administrative fees.

Notes to Composite

The creation date of this composite is December 2006, and the inception date is January 1991. Effective September 1, 2004, the Composite was redefined to include only wrap-fee paying, sub-advisory and program-sponsored advisory accounts. Performance up to that time is that of the Company's institutional Large-Cap Value Master Composite. There has been no change in investment objective or management style. Effective August 1, 2009, a participating program sponsor with a significant number of accounts became solely responsible for all model re-balancing and trading activity. As a result, these accounts became ineligible for composite inclusion. Clients or prospective clients should not assume that they will have an investment experience similar to that indicated by past performance results, as shown on the GIPS report.

DEFINITIONS

The Russell 1000® Index is an index that measures the performance of the 1,000 largest companies in the Russell 3000 Index. The Russell 1000® Value Index is an index that measures the performance of those Russell 1000 companies with lower price-to-book ratios and lower forecasted growth values. Unless otherwise stated, index returns do not reflect the effect of any applicable sales charges, commissions, expenses, taxes or leverage, as applicable. It is not possible to invest directly in an index. Historical performance of the index illustrates market trends and does not represent the past or future performance of the fund. Alpha measures risk-adjusted performance, showing excess return delivered at the same risk level as the benchmark. Beta is a measure of the relative volatility of a security or portfolio to the market's upward or downward movements. R-Squared measures how well an investment's returns correlate to an index. An R-squared of 1.00 means the portfolio performance is 100% correlated to the index's, whereas a low R-squared means that the portfolio performance is less correlated to the index's. Information ratio is the portfolio's alpha or excess return per unit of risk, as measured by tracking error, versus the portfolio's benchmark. Standard deviation measures how widely individual performance returns, within a performance series, are dispersed from the average or mean value. Tracking error is the amount by which the performance of the portfolio differs from that of the benchmark. Upside market capture measures the percentage of the benchmark's returns that was captured by the manager, in periods defined by positive returns for the benchmark. Downside market capture measures the percentage of the benchmark's returns that was captured by the manager, in periods defined by negative returns for the benchmark.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

RISK CONSIDERATIONS

There is no assurance that a Portfolio will achieve its investment objective. Portfolios are subject to market risk, which is the possibility that the market values of securities owned by the Portfolio will decline and may therefore be less than what you paid for them. Market values can change daily due to economic and other events (e.g. natural disasters, health crises, terrorism, conflicts and social unrest) that affect markets, countries, companies or governments. It is difficult to predict the timing, duration, and potential adverse effects (e.g. portfolio liquidity) of events. Accordingly, you can lose money investing in this Portfolio. Please be aware that this Portfolio may be subject to certain additional risks. In general, equities securities' values also fluctuate in response to activities specific to a company. Investors should be aware that this strategy may be subject to additional risks, which should be carefully considered prior to any investment decision.

There is no guarantee that any investment strategy will work under all market conditions, and each investor should evaluate their ability to invest for the long-term, especially during periods of downturn in the market.

A separately managed account may not be appropriate for all investors. Separate accounts managed according to the Strategy include a number of securities and will not necessarily track the performance of any index. Please consider the investment objectives, risks and fees of the Strategy carefully before investing. A minimum asset level is required.

For important information about the investment managers, please refer to Form ADV Part 2.
